Hearing Attendees Told
Best Place For Appeal
Is Annual Town Meeting

A group of about 80 citizens who appeared at the hearing on the layout of Appleton place Monday night were told their "final and best place to appear was before the Town Meeting in March" by Walter T. Kenney, chairman of the Board of Selectmen who presided.

Kenney said, "Our (the Selectmen) position is definite. We feel the extension should be laid out. Under present conditions, the area constitutes a traffic and fire hazard."

Most Opposed
Although no vote or show of hands was sought or recorded, it was felt that most of those

Local defenses against the proposed Route 3 highway continued to strengthen this past week.

A few letters in protest have been received, according to local officials. However, it is felt that residents in the Morningside area are not really aware of the impending danger.

The Number One route proposed by Commissioner Volpe of the State Public Works dept. would bring the roadway from Route 128 directly through the Morningside section, near the Bishop school.

It is understood negotiations are about completed with a firm of engineers for a survey and proposals for alternate routes. The fee involved is guessed at about $1800.

In the meantime Town Manager Monahan has written Volpe asking for the maps and information which were promised at the hearing two weeks ago. Volpe has given the community

Flays MTA Survey Report

The Ernst and Ernst survey on problems of the MTA is full of inconsistencies.

This is the charge made by Town Manager Monahan who is chairman of the sub-committee of the MTA Advisory Committee. Monahan told local newsmen on Tuesday that the report failed to support its position by concrete evidence and that it contained no comparisons between what "is happening" and what "would happen" under the reports recommendations.

$100,000 A Lot To Pay
This week the Board of Selectmen voted a resolution supporting the position of Monahan's sub-committee which asks for a change in the basic law which would distribute the costs

Candidates Critical

The Town Meeting Member situation worsened during the past week. With a number of incumbents announcing that they would not be candidates for re-election and only a few people becoming new candidates, the Town faces a situation where there are only 55 candidates running for 101 open positions, little better than half a candidate for each job.

Voters May Be Struck From List

According to Town Clerk Golden, local voters who fail to notify his office of change of address "take the chance of being dropped from the voting list. He said that the canvass for the True List of Persons of the Town is about completed. The canvassers found many residents not at home and therefore left cards to be filled out. Unless the Clerk is notified by mail or phone (AR 5-6700) Golden said that a person's name would not appear on the True List and, later, a cross-check with the Voting List might cause the name to be dropped.

Legs In Games

Two basketball players suffered broken legs in identical accidents at Lowe Auditorium during the past week. Both players, crashed into one of the backboard uprights, one breaking his left leg, the other his right.

John Clausen, co-captain of basketball and baseball at Brookline High school, suffered a compound fracture of the left leg three minutes after the start of the basketball game between Arlington and Brookline last Tuesday afternoon.

Clausen, who is also a star baseball pitcher, was driving in for a lay-up, with no one in front

Slagle To Run
For School Board

A new candidate for School Committee took out nomination papers this week, according to Town Clerk Golden.

He is Willard J. Slagle of 144 Hutchinson rd. Slagle is proprietor of a well-known restaurant in Boston and is past president of the Massachusetts Restaurant Ass'n and is a member of the board of directors of the National Restaurant Association.

Slagle's entry brings the number of candidates to eight for the three open spots. A like number will run for Assessor for the one opening.

With the withdrawal of Herbert O. Alderson from the Selectman's contest this week, no contest is indicated up to last night.

There are just two candidates for the two openings. They are incumbent Joseph P. Greeley and Thomas R. Rawson, former member of the now obsolete Board of Public Works.

Unopposed also are the incumbent Town Clerk, Treasurer-Collector and Housing Authority — James J. Golden, J. Wilbert Anderson and A. Coffey, respectively.

FLASH!

Late yesterday afternoon William S. Patterson of 24 Stonybrook rd. announced his candidacy for Selectman. Other candidates for the two positions on the Board are Joseph P. Greeley, incumbent, and Thomas R. Rawson.

Alderson Withdraws
For 'Personal' Reasons

The sudden announcement of the withdrawal of Herbert O. Alderson from the Selectmen's race provided a surprise in political circles this week.

In a statement to this paper Alderson said he was forced to withdraw because of a "personal matter over which I have no control."

At the time of the announcement three candidates were running for the two open spots — Alderson, Rawson and Greeley. It is believed that by the deadline on Jan. 25 another candidate who is closely associated with Alderson and his workers will file.

Alderson's complete statement: "It is with great regret that developments of an entirely personal matter, over which I

Town Meeting Will Face
84 Articles; 6 'Toughies'PARMENTER PARENTS
SEEK ADDITION

Parents in the Parmenter school district will seek an addition to that school in a separate article.

F. Lawrence Doherty, president of the Parmenter P.T.A., appeared before the School Committee relative to the article Tuesday night.

Ask For Demolition

The parents contend that there are this year 44 pupils in the kindergarten which is forced to meet in the basement and that there is no room for this large group to meet in the single first grade room.

It is also understood that the Committee to study use of the old Parmenter building, a wooden structure, will recommend that the building be torn down. The committee chairman is Malcolm Masters of Venner rd.

Manager On Record
This would make room for the proposed addition parent leaders contend.

The 1954 Town Warrant will contain 84 articles for consideration at the annual Town Meeting, according to Frank Nicksay, secretary of the Board of Selectmen.

Last year's warrant contained 85 measures which were gobbled up in only four sessions—to everyone's surprise.

Controversial Issues
Seen as controversial issues, real "toughies", on this year's agenda:—

—six per cent permanent boost to Town employees.

—acceptance of the lay-out for Appleton place proposed by Selectmen while School Committee asks a survey-study.

—group insurance for Town employees.

—school building program with three new buildings sought by the School Committee plus two additions.

—Parmenter parents' plea for addition.

—Russell school parents' for solution to problem which has existed for years.

Action On Rt. 3
Another expected highlight will be the discussion of the proposed Rt. 3 through the Town with many plans, ideas suggested.

Last year the Town Meeting appropriated around $4,200,000 to raise the tax rate from $56.40 in 1952 to $57.60.

Lower Rate Asked
In November Town Manager Monahan announced his proposed budget which, if endorsed by the Meeting, would reduce the tax rate to about $54.10.

Monahan's budget allowed for around $179,000 for appropriations under warrant articles over and above the running expenses.

For Road Work

Governor Christian A. Herter and State Public Works Commissioner John A. Volpe announced today that there will be a substantial increase over last year's figures for Chapter 90 funds to aid towns and cities in highway work.

A total of $4,407,605 has been allotted for 600 projects in various counties, an increase of the sum of $1,159,890 over 1933 figures. Middlesex County will receive $740,300.

$24,000 For Arlington

The sum of $24,000 has been allotted for work in the town of Arlington on Appleton and Forest streets.

The announcement made this week is the result of conferences by Volpe with various County Commissioners and other local officials during a series of conferences at County level in the months of August, September and October, 1933.

Under the Chapter 90 program, 50 per cent of the funds for highway work is appropriated by the Commonwealth, with the County and town or city, each financing 25 per cent.

Among those communities which were granted more than Arlington's $24,000, Cambridge was high with $59,000; Framingham $24,000; Lowell $55,000; Medford, $34,000; Natick, $51,000; Newton, $38,000.

The Rotary Club of Arlington was host to Chester M. Lawson, Governor of the 288th District of Rotary International, who made his annual official visit yesterday. He conferred with President Paul F. Speaker of the House of Representatives, Hon. Charles Gibbons will be the guest of honor and principal speaker at a breakfast for men to be held at the Trinity Baptist church, Sunday, Feb. 28, under the auspices of the newly elected officers of the Adelphian Men's Class.

Speaker Gibbons was born in Girdler, Ken. and graduated from Barboursville Baptist College in 1919. He is a naval veteran and has risen from selectman of the town of Stoneham to the speakership of the House of Representatives. His conduct of that office has elicited praise from political observers and commentators of all parties, not only in Massachusetts, but throughout the nation.

Russell Group Statement Appeals for Town Help

The following is a statement by the Parents' Group of the Russell School in an appeal to Town Meeting members:

The need for an elementary school in the Russell School district is absolute and definite. Our elementary school housing facilities have been sadly neglected in the past, and not up to Arlington's standards. We know the citizens of the town believe in these elementary school children, and the fact that they should have a proper school within a reasonable and safe distance of their homes.

The Russell School district is an established public school district, and with its post-war families will continue to grow if proper school housing facilities are made available.

The Russell School Parents' Group stands solidly behind the plans as outlined by the Russell School District Building Committee, as being in the best interests of the taxpayers of the town, and the elementary children of the Russell school district of the present and future generations.

The support for the new Russell school will show the confidence the citizens of this town place in the proven school-housing needs of little children. This is a moral not a political consideration.

We believe that it is a moral obligation of those believing in proper schools to support the needs of these children 100%. Loyalty to small children's school housing needs is an important democratic attribute.

We sincerely ask you to help us in this worthwhile effort, and personally stand behind these elementary Russell school children with your vote.

The Russell School Parents' Group
(182 Kindergarten to Sixth-Grade Children)

SELECTMEN have asked the Police Dept. to make an informal investigation of taxi operations within the town to see if the best possible service is being performed.

East Meets West

The Far Eastern influence is expressed in this bedroom grouping from the Eurasian collection. Made from selected white maple, the finish is quartz and ebony. The pull on case pieces are powerized solid brass. The grouping is equally effective with an upholstered headboard and is a fine example of the dramatic contrast that is achieved by the combination of light and dark finishes. All School Committee Candidates To Speak At PTA Council Meeting

Seven candidates for the office of School Committee have been invited to speak at the January meeting of the Arlington Council of Parent and Teacher Assns. Mrs. Spencer Dormister will preside at the meeting, which will be held at 7:45 p.m., Tuesday evening, Jan. 26, at Library Hall.

Following is a list of candidates who will take part in the program: Mrs. Robert Strong, Mrs. Nelson Brown, Mr. Donald J. Johnston; Mr. Frederick J. Romley, Mr. Charles Kent, Mr. Edwin Mockler, Mr. Arthur S. Coughlin Jr.

Non-partisanship in politics is a strict policy of Parent-Teacher Associations, but since all candidates have been invited, and each one will be given equal time to discuss his platform, it is not a violation of policy, but an exceptional opportunity for Arlington parents to better acquaint themselves with each candidate and hear his views. If time permits, there will be a question and answer period.

Mrs. Francis Keefe is program chairman for the evening and Mrs. Harry Fantazian and her hospitality committee have planned another enjoyable social hour.

Since this is an open meeting of the Council, all Parent-Teacher Members and the general public are invited.

Canned Tomatoes Are Favorite Vegetable

TOMATOES are a favorite vegetable to serve just as they come from the can or with seasonings and bread cubes in a more dressed up version. Whichever way you choose, you can count on pleasure from the bright red color, the tart flavor and the smooth texture which tomatoes offer. Tomatoes are carefully grown under optimum conditions and picked red-ripe for canning. The fancy grades are hand packed which means that the can will contain whole tomatoes or large segments. These fancy pack tomatoes are especially nice to serve as a vegetable. The less expensive grades can be used equally well in all cases where the tomatoes will be part of a casserole or sauce.

Scalloped Tomatoes

Place bacon slices in cold frying pan. Place over low heat and cook, turning occasionally, until crisp. Remove bacon, crumble and reserve. Add cubed bread to drippings in skillet. Cook until browned, stirring occasionally. Turn half the cubes into casserole or shallow baking dish. Spoon tomatoes over bread cubes. Sprinkle with seasonings. Combine bacon and remaining bread cubes, sprinkle around edge of casserole. Bake in a moderate oven (375° F) 25 minutes. YIELD: 4 servings.

Refreshments of ice cream, cookies, candy, cigarettes, fruit punch and birthday cake were served.

Each patient with a birthday in January was presented with a Canteen Coupon.

Membership Limited By Red and Reel Ass'n

In spite of the near zero weather that prevailed on the evening of Wednesday, Jan. 13, 20 members of the Spy Pond Red and Reel Association turned out for the monthly meeting which was held at the Arlington Boys' Club.

Restricted to 80
Membership was the principal topic of discussion. President Thurman F. Chandler and Vice President George W. Kinman spoke at length on this subject as did former president Fred Bodemer. It was voted that membership in the Association should be restricted to 75 active members and 5 honorary members.

Honorary Members
The following were named as honorary members: James H. Sumner, Executive Director of the Arlington Boys' Club, Representative Henry Keenan, Town Manager Edward C. Monahan, Pat Harty, Fish and Game Editor of the Boston Globe and George Livotti, a former active member of the Association who now resides in Cleveland, Ohio.

Film Shown
Following the business meeting the sound film "Canada's Tackle Busters" was enjoyed. This film, in color, released by the Canadian Pacific Railway, showed small mouth bass fishing at a Canadian lake. The landing of these "tackle busters" by both fly fishing and bait casting was shown. All were high in their praise of this film and stated it was perhaps the best that the local sportsmen have had at their meetings. Hot coffee and doughnuts were served after the movie.

Near Limit
President Thurman F. Chandler wishes to remind local sportsmen that it will not be long before membership in the Association reaches the limit of 75 and urges those interested in joining to get their applications in by the next meeting which will be held at the Boys' Club on Wednesday, Feb. 10 at 7:30 p.m.

The following is part of the report issued by the Harvard Graduate School after their survey of Arlington's school system. This section is concerned with our present school plant.

The Study Staff has visited each of the nine elementary, two junior high's, the senior high and the industrial arts building several times during the progress of the survey. Independent evaluation of the structures have been made using the McLeary Guide for Evaluating School Buildings. The resultant findings have been merged as presented in the following section. The McLeary Guide for rating school buildings takes into consideration: site, building design and structure, service systems, regular and special classrooms, special rooms providing for pupil activities, service and administration. The highest possible score which buildings may receive using this rating media is 1000 points. Scores for Arlington buildings range from 885 for the Bishop School to 126 for the Russell School. The profile chart which presents in graphic form the composite score is reproduced in the report so that the reader may tell at a glance the strengths and weaknesses of each of the buildings.

This section limits itself to a description of the present plant and the later section on Conclusions and Recommendations will give the staff's suggestions as to the steps that may be taken to improve the future school plant.

THE BISHOP SCHOOL is Arlington's newest school. It was built in 1949 and in addition to its eight classrooms provides many modern school features.

The natural and artificial lighting in the classrooms is excellent. Floors are covered with light colored asphalt. The light finished furniture is moveable and each room has an activity space, as well as hand washing facilities. However, the classrooms are small (about 700 sq. ft.) and cannot accommodate more than 25 pupils without crowding.

The building contains a kindergarten with its own toilet facilities and space for work and play as well as storage of activity materials. The structure also contains a library, play room, and auditorium. At the present time the demand for additional class areas forces the use of the library and the auditorium for this purpose.

The site is small but the town has purchased several acres for general playground to the rear of the school which children are permitted to use during the school day.

While the building was constructed in such a manner that an addition could be made, the amount of land which is available for expansion on the side originally designed for the addition is limited.

The Bishop rated highest of all Arlington schools with 885 points out of a possible 1000.

The rating chart follows:

THE BRACKETT SCHOOL, built in 1931, is a fire-proof building containing sixteen classrooms, an auditorium, and a large play area on the ground floor. In addition to the school site there is a municipal playground located across the street and this area is used by the pupils during and after school hours. The building is equipped with a vacuum system for cleaning with outlets throughout the structure. Each room is heated by univents which provide automatic heat and ventilation control. The steam heating system is fired by stokers.

The classrooms are small, lack sufficient tack board, and have not been painted for some years. All furniture is of the fixed type. Artificial lighting is old and provides no more than five foot candles at desk height.

The corridors are dark and noisy. The library is small and the building lacks a cafeteria.

The Brackett School received 632 points out of a possible 1000.

THE CROSBY SCHOOL contains sixteen regular classrooms and three emergency rooms in the basement. The main building was built in 1896, and the addition was constructed in 1910. It is a brick building with a wood interior and wood stairways.

Recently, all the floors and stairways in the building have been covered with asphalt tile and the entire interior has been redecorated. Fluorescent lighting and movable furniture has been installed in all classrooms.

In many classrooms the windows are small with the ceilings high and the acoustics poor. Heating and ventilation are accomplished by a gravity hot air system which is operated by hand and does not permit the heating of separate units. There is no cafeteria, the auditorium is on the third floor and toilet facilities are in the basement.

The Crosby rating chart shows the school rating a low 370 points out of the possible 1000.

THE CUTTER SCHOOL consists of a main building built in 1900 and an addition constructed in 1925. Each section of the building contains eight classrooms and an auditorium is located on the third floor of the main building. Stairways in the addition are fireproof while those in the original building are wood. The outside and center walls are brick but the interior of the building is wood. Toilet facilities are all on the first floor, and those in the original section are antiquated and in need of replacement. The building does not have a gymnasium, play room or cafeteria. The corridors are large, the walls are dark and the ceilings high.

The classrooms are of the type found in buildings constructed around 1900. They lack sufficient tackboard, have an excess of blackboard space, have floors which are worn, dark, and saturated with oil. Light contrast is severe because of the dark woodwork, desks, and floors.

The Cutter School rating never climbed above the "very poor" section on the rating chart, scoring 249 points out of the allotted 1000.

THE HARDY SCHOOL is a two-story brick building. The original part containing sixteen classrooms and an auditorium was built in 1925. Six classrooms, a library and health suite were added in 1950. The site, below the standard set in the McLeary Scale, lacks play equipment and proper surfacing.

The original section of the building has badly worn floors, is noisy and has toilets on the ground floor only. Drinking fountains are found only in toilet rooms. Classrooms are of standard size but are equipped with fixed furniture, single dark shades, excessive amounts of blackboards and insufficient areas of tackboard. Dark woodwork, desks, and floors make brightness contrast high. The auditorium is dark and unattractive.

The Hardy School has one of the highest ratings with only the "sub-satisfactory" site receiving low points.

THE LOCKE SCHOOL was constructed in 1895 with an addition in 1902. It has brick walls and wood interior with the auditorium on the third floor. The heating plant is old and at times does not completely heat the building.

Flourescent lights have been installed in all classrooms, the rooms are in need of paint, movable furniture and tackboard. The floors are badly worn and oil treated which makes them dark and a possible fire hazard. Drinking fountains are found only in toilet rooms.

The site is small and special facilities such as cafeteria, gymnasium, playroom or library are non-existent. Teachers' rooms are not of a number or size to serve this elementary school.

The Locke School rates low on the chart, never going over the "very poor" rating mark. A score of 174 was given the school.

THE PARMENTER SCHOOL, built in 1926, is an eight-room, fire-proof structure. An auditorium is located on the third floor and a playroom on the ground floor. The latter is now being used for a kindergarten so that the children have no desirable playroom within the building.

The site at present is extremely limited but could be enlarged by razing the former Industrial Arts School which is no longer in use. The removal of this building and landscaping of the contours would provide a more acceptable playground.

Classrooms lack sufficient natural light, are unattractive and the concrete floors in several rooms are badly chipped and cracked. The desks are of the fixed type and tackboard is absent in some rooms.

The building has no cafeteria or library and the health facilities are limited. Little storage space is available and there is a limited administrative area.

The Parmenter School is near the median point on the chart with a score of 479 out of the possible 1000. The site and lack of special rooms are all that keep the Parmenter from rating much higher.

THE PEIRCE SCHOOL—the first section of this building was constructed in 1924, and a wing was added in 1929. It is a two and a half story brick building containing sixteen classrooms and an auditorium. The playroom, which is located in the basement, is being used to accommodate two kindergarten classes. The interior of the building has not been painted in some years. Water seepage through the side walls has caused plaster to powder and flake off in some places and there are indications that additional damage might be expected. Shade trees on the northerly side are so close to the building that artificial lights are usually required in the rooms on that side of the building.

The classrooms are equipped with fixed furniture, floors are worn in spots, walls and ceilings are cracked and unattractive. The artificial lighting produces glare and shadows. All of the rooms have an excess of blackboard and almost no tackboard.

The original part of the building is heated by hot air while steam radiators are found in the newer section. All of the heating is controlled by hand and is not zoned, requiring that all of the building be heated if any part is to be used.

The auditorium-gymnasium, which is on the basement level of the building and below street level, is dark and contains only minimum facilities. As well, the building contains no cafeteria.

The play area is very rough, covered with cinders and shows signs of erosion with some rocks protruding.

Complete lack of special classrooms forces an otherwise excellent score for the Peirce School down to the mid-point on the rating chart.

DEATH KNELL FOR TOWN MEETING

The bell is tolling for the death of town government in Arlington!

This is not our ordinary and annual appeal in lament of the situation in contests for Town Meeting member. The end is just around the corner. The pulse beat can no longer be felt; breathing has just about ceased. The next step is to throw dirt onto the once august body of the Town Meeting.

Here are the facts:

As of Tuesday night, there were a mere 55 candidates who had filed for 101 openings in the TM roster!

We know from past experience that there will be a last minute rush. Sure, fill up the gaps! Get anybody to run! Not who—just somebody!!

Who is to blame?

Well, we will blame ourselves (this editor) for not yelling and wailing earlier. We blame precinct chairmen for gross negligence in all but a very few cases. We blame the scores of civic organizations, all with a zeal for this or that do-gooding, while forgetting the fundamental obligation implied in the adjective "civic".

We cannot bring ourselves to blame Mr. Joe Citizen. He hears rumors and rumbles. He lacks confidence. He is not sure he is wanted. He does not know how to go about it.

To point the way was the bound duty of this writer, the chairmen and the organizations. Where were we?

For our part in this miserable mess we ask forgiveness. There is just one slim hope left—maybe the spark can be fanned into a warming blaze in the next four days.

FOREIGN TRADE THAT TICKS

When President Eisenhower appointed the Randall Commission to investigate and report on foreign trade and tariff, he wrote each member outlining the objectives. He said, in part: "the building throughout the free world of a strong and self-sustaining economic system... requires... enlargement of commerce between nations".

Perhaps the most startling example of what "commerce between nations" can mean to both parties is the "Swiss" watch business. Americans make more money out of these watches than the Swiss do. The figures tell a dramatic story:

Last year Swiss watch imports (85 percent are movements) amounted to 58 million dollars... which sold at retail for 350 million dollars after American-made cases, dials and straps were added. For every dollar the Swiss gets, Americans receive five! Of every dollar you spend for a "Swiss" watch, 85 cents stays here and 15 cents goes to Switzerland. And out of that 85 cents, 17 cents goes to Uncle Sam for tariff, excises and sales taxes. His bite is bigger than the whole of the return to the Swiss!

America spent a total of 164 million dollars last year for all imports from Switzerland, but watch imports alone provided the foundation for an American industry whose annual sales were twice this much, which directly employed 15,000 people and supplied a considerable part of the income of another 100,000—including America's 31,000 jewelry store owners who derive half their income from watch sales and repairs.

Here, indeed is a goose that lays golden eggs—regularly—year in and year out.

That's the bright side.

On the dark side, one asks what happens in the case of global war? Where do we get the timing mechanisms and where do we buy the expert know-how?

The partial answer is that the government has probably stock-piled some. Also, under modern warfare with the jet sub, jet plane and long range bomber transportation the vital material could be landed here safely. Too, a stronger Switzerland can better defend herself from the Red threat from within and without.

WHAT NEXT?

With resumption of the Panmunjon "talks" that were to lead to a Korean peace conference still deadlocked, Indian General K. S. Thimayya, commanding officer of the custodial troops in charge of unrepatriated war prisoners, is rewriting the armistice.

He has announced that he will return these men nearly three days ahead of time, and as prisoners, not civilians to their Red and Allied captors on January 20. Plans of the UN Command are to release the more than 22,000 North Koreans and Chinese who want no more of Communism. The 14,000 Chinese are to be sent to Formosa. No telling what the Reds will do with the 21 Americans, 1 Briton and 325 South Koreans who say they like their ways.

Thus, in spite of the objections of the other four "neutral" nations on the repatriation commission, India runs out on a job we didn't want her to have in the first place.

It seems we just can't win.

We highly recommend for this week-end's reading assignment the Harvard Report on local schools. It begins in this issue.

Dear Sir:
In reply to the reader of your good paper who declines to vote in the next Town Election.

I believe he is taking the wrong attitude in this matter. The main object of voting is to vote for candidates who will have your interest in mind when they vote on certain issues. If they disregard your interest in favor of some group then you have the opportunity of voting against this particular candidate.

The tenants will be notified who these smug individuals are in a paid advertisement in this paper before the next election.

The members of the Finance Board who voted unanimously to drop controls will be named. If any member of this board is a candidate for election then the tenant will have his day.

The tenants can then start with the Selectmen and go down the line and eliminate those who voted to drop controls. The landlords have the opportunity to do the same in reverse.

We should not have any increase in taxes if the assessors are on the ball. After controls were dropped they were supposed to reassess the value of the homes where the landlords have increased the rents to an exorbitant figure.

What have you done about this Messrs. Assessors? It looks like we need a change of faces on this board.

THE RIGHT PRESCRIPTION

That Man About Town

By MAT

We have heard from several sources that many were very unhappy after Monday night's hearing on the extension of Appleton place.

Their main displeasure, it seems, does not stem from the way the hearing was conducted or the fact that they disagree with the Selectmen's position (which is to recommend that the street be built immediately).

According to what we hear, they wonder why the hearing was held at all or why 60 people bothered to attend. Because at the very beginning the Chairman announced that the Board of Selectmen had already decided in favor of construction of the extension. He advised those attending to make their appeal at the Town Meeting in March—calling it the "best place" to do so. In other words, the hearing had no bearing on the Board's decision. Its mind had already been made up.

The withdrawal of Alderson from the Selectman's race for understandable "personal reasons" leaves Messrs. Greeley and Rawson in an enviable position. The predicted battle with three strong candidates for two slots has gone up in smoke, for the present.

We believe, however, that a third contender will be entered over this week-end. The deadline is Monday at 5 p.m. Not much time!

We still hear a lot of grumbling about the Center traffic loop. It is still the topic of conversation in many homes we visit.

[The opinions of MAT do not necessarily coincide, and often do not, with ours—Ed.]

— POET'S CORNER —

WASTED WINTERS

When the sad news broke
One boy was drowned
We shuddered and shrugged
And said with a frown
Why can't children wait
What's the haste—can't they wait!
The answer is "NO!" we surely should know
How can they resist that feeling to go
And gaily cavort on that carpet of ice
When winter is short and it is so nice
To test the steel of the quivering power
That drives one on in this majestic hour
The bursting urge to be carried away
By the winds of freedom on a cold racy day.

Determined to skate be what the fate
Can't we try to devise before it's too late
A suitable rink where all those who aspire
All thru the year may skate 'til they tire?
For though we're weary we cannot deny
That Springtime in youth is not just a sigh
Not just equipment or clay to mold
And set in a test tube until they are old;
It's a torrent of vitality,
It's a wave of din and glee,
No better way to set it free
Than this soothing, mystic symphony—
Gliding, spinning, streaking, shrieking,
Whimsy's orbits—fleetness winking.

The well of fun will never freeze,
It's drying up, do heed its pleas!
On barren hills we coast no more,
The sleigh is in the barn, rusted to the core;
We hang a canvas on the wall
Those wintry scenes will never pall;
But in Grandma's day they felt the thrill
Are we to look and just sit still?
A park is fine, it feels sublime,
It soothes our jangled nerves,
But watching ducks instead of pucks
Is like baseball without curves—
To children who would rather see
An ice filled park than any tree!

"Last Monday afternoon we visited the ice houses of Addison, Gage and Co. at Spy Pond to witness the highly gratifying sight of hundreds of men engaged in harvesting the first good crop of ice from this source in several years. Profitable employment for so many men who might otherwise be unemployed is most heart-warming."

Curtailment of transit lines and a proposed tax levy to aid the Boston Elevated Railway has caused Selectman Hollis Gott to state that "the El is offering Arlington a choice of taxation without transportation."

"A survey is being made of the traffic situation in the Center with the idea of putting in to operation some new system of traffic control."

Pupils in the Arlington schools will now escape the terror of midyear exams. A new series of tests, known as "terminal tests", will be given as each phase of a subject is completed.

Behind the Business Scene

— by Reynolds Knight —

Those of us whose memories go back beyond the outbreak of World War II will recognize the rise in unemployment, which some commentators are trying to smoke up into an imminent depression, as an old acquaintance. It is the once-familiar seasonal pattern of manufacture and trade.

Layoffs are concentrated in such spots as Detroit, center of the automobile industry; Milwaukee, where farm machinery is made, and New England, where many small metal-working plants, subcontractors for machinery makers, employ much of the working force. Along with this there is naturally a cutback in the smelting of steel, basic material for many of the articles for which seasonal demand is low.

When spring opens the roads and softens the field workers will be recalled. At least, they nearly always have been. An exception may be the oldest steel-making installations, which will certainly be shut down in favor of the new ones built since the war, in anything but an all-out boom.

The Guaranty Trust Survey, an influential bank letter, this month stresses the danger of losing sight of the probable temporary character of the recession—if indeed we are in a recession—and urges that any business-correction be allowed to run its course.

WAR ON PRICE CUTS—Most solid citizens feel that a store which uses a low price on an outstanding article of merchandise as customer bait is a parasite on the legitimate outlets which respect the price schedule under which the article's reputation has been built. A leading pen manufacturer is banking on this fair-play feeling in declaring war on price cutting.

R. H. Whidden, vice president for sales of W. A. Sheaffer Pen Company, told a sales meeting in New York: "Our company is determined it will not do business with price cutters. The sound retailer cannot continue to perform his services to the public and to the manufacturer if the latter permits him to be undersold by irresponsible outlets."

While only 1 per cent of Shaeffer merchandise reached the public through discount houses in 1953, Mr. Whidden said, management considers that is still too much. "We intend to cut this to zero in 1954," he promised. Retailer meetings will be held in various cities to enlist dealers' cooperation, he disclosed.

THINGS TO COME—A new high-speed coffeemaker boasts of brewing two cups in two and a half minutes, with a larger model turning out eight cups in seven minutes... You can now buy a refrigerator with a door that opens to either side, depending on how you turn the handle in the middle... Shallow well water systems come packaged in a new line, priced as low as $98.75 for pump, tank and motor... A mechanical darning, newly introduced by a Midwestern gadget maker, is actually a tiny loom. Darns mends and reinforces... Styrene filaments make up the bristles of a new push broom for street and warehouse sweeping.

GOOD CUSTOMERS—The rise of the airplane industry to second place among all employers of manufacturing labor provides the nation directly with 750,000 "king-size" customers, solvent citizens and good neighbors.

Making this claim for his industry is Mundy I. Peale, president of Republic Aviation Corporation at Farmingdale, Long Island. Aircraft manufacturers paid out $3.2 billion in wages in 1953, he pointed out. Based on Labor Department findings, the Thunderstreak fighter-bomber calculated that this went into the stream of trade as $1.2 billion in food purchases, $1.2 billion for other goods and services, $624 million for housing, $128 million for insurance, union dues and occupational expenses, and $224 million for federal and state income taxes.

Peale emphasized that this applied only to the airplane makers' direct employees, and that a full nose-counting of suppliers employees might run the total closer to three million persons dependent on the industry for their incomes.

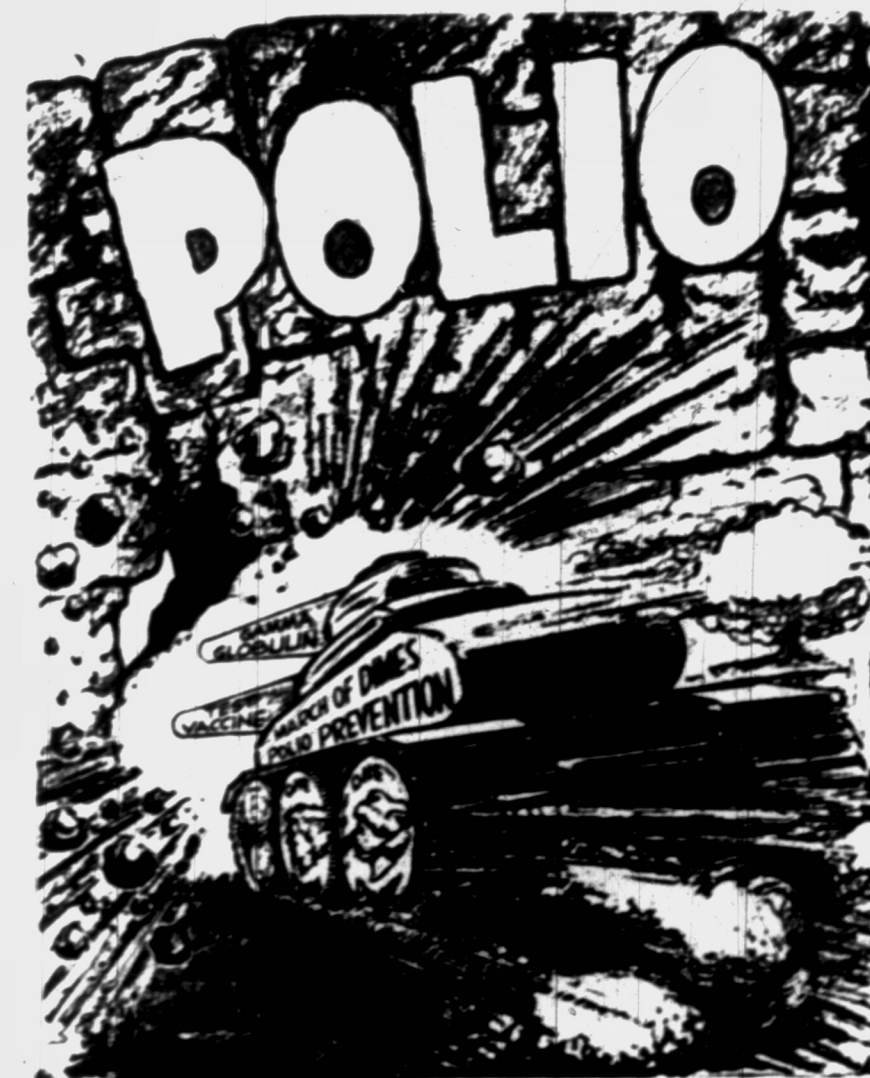

TIME TO BORROW—Is your town, county or school district thinking of floating a bond issue for new schools, roads, hospital or other major expenditure any time soon? It might be a good idea to hurry through the formalities and get into the money market in the first half of this year.

Reasons are many: The excess-profits tax is definitely ending, and with it hundreds of millions in borrowing to increase EPT exemptions. The Mills Act, crowding more and more corporate taxpayers into the first half of the year, will build up a big Treasury surplus at the beginning of fiscal 1955, which begins July 1. Inventory levels have halted and turned down a little, starting a return flow of funds into banks.

All these things mean there is plenty of money to lend, and interest rates will go down as a consequence. By next fall the Treasury will have a deficit, and much of the money now idle may have found long-term employment. If that happens, rates will start up again then.

BITS O' BUSINESS—Coffee and cocoa continue to set new high prices in futures markets... Soft coal output in the week ended January 2 was 6,950,000 tons, off 775,000 tons from the like week a year earlier... Scrap steel in Chicago has gone below $30 a ton, down from the $44 high of last August.

Prizes To Feature B. C. Card Party

Chairman Herbert Weber of the 1954 Boys' Club Associates annual Card Party made the following announcement this week:

"At a meeting held this week the members David Busfield, Norman Belden, Ernest Ryder, Robert Titilash and Jim Sumner, of my committee, all reported great progress in their work. Indications point to another wonderful evening for the many friends of the Arlington Boys' Club."

In addition to an evening of playing any game of cards desired, refreshments will be served and about 100 gifts will be awarded as door prizes. One of the finest items ever given at a card party will be awarded at every table as a table prize.

To top it off, each purchaser of a ticket to the party will also have an opportunity of winning a handsome $200.00 value handsome, double-bed size, bedspread. The bedspread is a gift of Mrs. Joseph Broussard of Cambridge. Mrs. Broussard has a twelve-year-old son at the Arlington Boys' Club.

Tickets may be secured at the Club or from the committee.

All proceeds to go to the Arlington Boys' Club Day Camp program.

Legion To Hear Custom's Agent Talk On Dope

The efforts of customs agents to stop smuggling of all types, especially narcotics, will be discussed by Harold Laffayette at the January social meeting of the Arlington Post, American Legion, to be held Tuesday, January 26.

Laffayette is a Legionnaire and serves as local United States Customs Agent. He will supplement his speech with exhibits of cocaine, heroin, opium and other drugs. He will also demonstrate various smuggling devices such as suitcases with false panels and other tricks of the trade.

In these troubled times, when dope peddling, juvenile delinquency and narcotic addiction are so prominent in the news, this affords a fine opportunity to get the latest news on our government's never ending fight against this menace.

All veterans are invited to attend the meeting and the collation which will follow.

Immaculate Conception Church Offers Course For Non-Catholics

The pastor of the Immaculate Conception church on Alewife Brook Parkway has announced a series of evening devotions and conferences for non-Catholics. This series will begin next Sunday evening and continue each evening until the following Sunday, Jan. 31. The starting time will be 7 o'clock on Sundays and 7:45 on week days.

The program will aim at presenting information about the Catholic church and, in order that particular questions may be answered, a question box will be a feature of the conferences. Subjects will include such questions as "Is Jesus really God?" "Is one church as good as another?" and the Catholic view of marriage.

The conferences will be given by the pastor, the Right Rev. C. T. H. Sherlock, who invites all those who may be interested in or even curious about the Catholic church and its teachings to attend the devotions and lectures.

Eight Injured In Auto Accidents During Week

The hazardous driving conditions created by the snow, ice and changing weather of the past week caused an exceptionally large amount of minor accidents during the past seven days.

18 Accidents
During this week's span, eight people were injured and 27 vehicles damaged in 18 separate accidents.

Auxiliary Police To Celebrate 10th Anniversary

To celebrate the Tenth Anniversary of the Arlington Auxiliary Police a banquet is being held in the Town Hall on Jan. 27. Judge John Connelly, Chief Justice of the Boston Juvenile Court, will be the guest speaker.

Judge Connelly is considered one of the country's outstanding authorities on juvenile delinquency and has written several books on the subject. He handles more juvenile cases in one year than any other judge in the world and will be a most interesting speaker, especially to the members of the Auxiliary Police, one of whose main functions is the suppression of juvenile delinquency through their various activities such as their organized baseball and hockey teams and their weekly dances.

Police Chief Archie F. Bullock said he has already received 200 reservations and expects 50 more reservations before Jan. 22 which he has set as the dead line for reservations.

Other guests will include the Town Manager Edward Monahan, the Board of Selectmen and the popular Joe Thornton who will act as master of ceremonies.

The Cubmaster then gave a short safety talk on the pitfalls of throwing stones, sleigh riding on thin ice.

PACK 88 CUB NEWS

Mrs. S. S. Smith's Den 3, conducted the flag ceremony which opened the December meeting of Pack 88, held in the auditorium of the John A. Bishop school.

Cubmaster Hubert Sharp read a letter received thanking the Pack for the Christmas dinner they furnished a needy family, and it was announced 400 wreaths were sold. Graduated prizes were awarded to the boys who sold ten or more.

August Stenger presented advancement awards to the following: Bobcat, Frank Kasperian; Wolf, Bobby Ardizzone and Peter Mitchell; Gold Arrow and Wolf, Clark Merchant and Calvin Cutter; Bear Badge and Gold Arrow, Anthony Medeiros; Silver Arrow and Lion Badge, Paul Smith; Lion Badge and Gold Arrow, Jay Anderson, Lion Badge, John McManus. Two Year pins were awarded to Francis Bellizia and Stephen Bercaloni.

After the Buckskin reports all boys participated in a nail driving contest which was won by Paul Smith in 8.2 seconds followed up by Frankie Previte with a record of 8.9 seconds. As a novelty the Den Mothers had a nail driving contest in which no one was declared a winner. The consensus of opinion of the Den Mother contestants was "the nails were faulty", which, of course, was not true and fun was had by all.

Rising Tide Of Polio Engulfs Globe

By Basil O'Connor

Polio is spreading to new areas of the world and the average yearly incidence of the disease is rising steadily, reports from the World Health Organization and other international surveys reveal.

The rising tide of polio engulfing the entire globe, with particular impact on the United States, lends emphasis to the March of Dimes drive for polio prevention funds currently being conducted by the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis.

In its quest for more funds this year, the National Foundation is on the trial of an effective polio vaccine which it hopes will soon stamp out infantile paralysis as a worldwide menace.

The World Health Organization says that polio—once confined to scattered cases in pre-dominantly temperate climates—now extend its ravages from the frozen northlands to the steaming African jungles.

The transformation of the disease from the relatively uncommon infantile paralysis of the 19th century into epidemic polio of a almost worldwide scope, WHO says, is one of the most formidable problems facing public health today.

"The relatively low incidence of paralytic poliomyelitis compared to many other infectious diseases," WHO adds, "is counterbalanced by the permanence of the resulting disability, since treatment—prolonged and expensive as it is—is only a palliative; a nerve cell, once irreparably damaged, cannot be replaced."

"Unless effective measures for its control are introduced," the World Health Organization predicts, "it is reasonable to assume that polio will present an increasingly serious problem in almost all countries of the world."

WHO reports polio cases in every one of the 26 countries in Europe, 20 countries in the Western Hemisphere and the 30 countries and other territorial areas of Africa which collect data on the disease. In Asia, 22 out of 23 countries report outbreaks with only tiny Laos, in the heart of Indo-China, recording no cases at all.

The National Foundation, while mainly concerned with polio outbreaks in the United States, nevertheless has mobilized its March of Dimes resources to meet the growing world threat. A worldwide information service and an extensive system for aiding Americans stricken with polio abroad, have been developed, pending validation of a polio vaccine it is now testing.

Because the National Foundation's first responsibility is to American citizens, it cannot aid foreigners or pay their way to this country for treatment (although it will help aliens who are stricken while in this country). However, because of its tremendous resources, created by contributions from the American "man in the street," it has been able to take the lead in scientific research aimed at destroying polio and has become an "arsenal of information" for other nations fighting the disease.

In the eyes of the world, the National Foundation is a beacon to light the way toward eventual victory over polio, and a symbol of the right way to meet the threat of disease. At the present time, many countries are attempting to start polio "foundations" following in the National Foundation's footsteps. It appears that, after centuries of darkness and ignorance, the world is at last moving toward final elimination of this terrible scourge.

Bait Casting Contest Starts At Boys' Club

The second annual bait casting tournament of the Arlington Boys' Club, supervised by members of the Spy Pond Rod and Reel Association, got under way Saturday, Jan. 16 at the Boys' Club gym.

While it is much too early to predict who the winners will be when the tournament ends, the following boys hold the upper hand at present: Albert Beaudoin with 300 pts., James LeBlanc and Ronald Flynn with 200 pts. each and Dan Mulvihill with 100 points. John Ottoson, Eddie O'Brien, Jack Keefe and Ronnie Morell did not score during the first round but the instructors say it will not be long before they are well up among the leaders.

Many of the boys in this tournament have entered in the Youth Bait Casting Tournament which will be held at the Sportsmens Show in Boston from Feb. 6 to 14. It is felt that these boys should make a very good showing due to the instruction and practice they have had at the Boys' Club. Their casting will be judged by the fish and game writers of the Boston papers and Ted Williams of the Boston Red Sox will present the awards to the boys that are judged to be the winners.
